

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A retractable awning for mounting on a recreational vehicle, building structure, or the like includes a mounting rail securable to a support surface, an outer rail that is connected to the mounting rail with a flexible awning canopy, a support structure for moving the outer rail toward and away from the mounting rail to move
5 the awning between retracted and extended positions, and wherein the outer rail includes end caps having light sources and speakers for an audio system.